

From Paper to Presentation: Writing and Presenting Research at Conferences

The Department of Psychology, School of Social Sciences, successfully conducted an engaging and hands-on session titled “From Paper to Presentation: Writing and Presenting Research at Conferences” on 13th April 2026 (9:30 AM – 11:30 AM).

The session was organized by Ms. Priyanka Kanake, Assistant Professor, and Dr. Subhashini, Associate Professor, and featured Ms. Rashmi Rekha Samal, Research Scholar, University of Hyderabad, as the speaker.

The session aimed at equipping students with essential academic and research presentation skills and provided practical insights into:

- Writing effective research papers
- Developing clear and concise abstracts
- Structuring presentations for academic conferences
- Enhancing confidence while presenting research work

Through a combination of guidance, examples, and interactive discussions, students were introduced to the nuances of academic writing and the expectations of conference presentations. The session emphasized clarity, originality, and effective communication in research dissemination.

Students actively participated and benefited from the hands-on approach, making it a highly enriching learning experience. Such initiatives play a crucial role in fostering a strong research culture and preparing students for academic and professional excellence.
